Health

On a Salli chair the strongly declining position of the upper legs dips the hip forward and curves the lower back into a natural position. The sitting bones support the upper back and strengthen it, helping to maintain the upper back straight and reducing tensions without the need for a back support.

On a Salli chair, your feet are flat on the floor at the sides of the chair. This helps to support and allows you to move easily. This stance enables your shoulders and your upper body muscles to relax. The improved posture deepens your breathing and thus gets rid of exhaustion, enhancing your productivity.

Salli strengthens your back muscles, increases fluid circulation in lower extremities and reduces exhaustion in stifle joints.

On a Salli Saddle Chair you sit higher than usually and consequently your desk must be higher. The best solution is found in Salli's own Elvis computer desk with a handy electronic height adjustment. Nipsu rest comes as a standard for your added comfort. Upholstered with leather, that gives you an ideal working support for your elbows, wrists and mouse hand. The Elvis computer desk is easily adjustable for different tasks (writing, phoning, research, computer work etc). If your desk is not fitted with any height adjustment the height can be easily increased through specific height adjustment tubes.

Beauty

Salli improves your posture, prevents your buttocks from flattening, reduces the effects of a bad fluid circulation in your legs, eliminates exhaustion through improved breathing positions and thus cheers you up. Take care of yourself and your beauty by keeping your mind fresh and posture correct.

Long live the differences!
