Activity Based Working

Freedom to work when and where one wants is starting to become more and more mainstream. In addition, our work environment and our work is constantly changing by technical innovations.

To respond to this as a future-oriented company, it is important to no longer only think about how many people to accommodate in the office but focus on the tasks that these people will perform and how the office space can best support these activities.

After all, those tasks are becoming more diverse. Collaboration is increasingly important, and so is finding a quiet place for a task that requires focus.

Because the rise of working remotely becomes a norm, it is changing the role of the office to that of an inspiring meeting place, a place that is used to develop new ideas and support new partnerships.

We have developed our program specifically for this purpose. With Workways it is possible to have different workstations for different tasks within a coherent design.

'It's about the way you work'

What do you need today?

Standing or sitting? Working alone or together? Formal or informal? There is always a workstation to meet your needs.

Sit-stand workstations

Our Workways workstations can be put together in a variety of ways that allow them to integrate perfectly into the office design, and to be modified later.

Meeting

A meeting room: an ideal place to get together, make plans, exchange ideas, move forward together or make each other better. That deserves attention. Every meeting space is different. That's why we offer different options in our Workways series. Which one suits your (new) meeting style?

Modular soft seating

In different compositions, the soft seating is suitable for different tasks.

Thanks to the modular concept, the elements can be endlessly combined and later expanded.

Apods

In order to work quietly or confer in privacy, we have the Apod. Equipped with all conveniences and balanced acoustics. The perfect climate for peace and quiet.

Do the environment and yourself a favor.

Recyclable wood and sawdust

Workways is made from reusable wood and is a combination of saw waste from our worktops production and Ash wood from Hollands Hout, sustainably sourced from local forests managed by the Forestry Commission. We finish the ash wood in clear, white or black.

100% recyclable

The cushions of the benches are made of high-quality recyclable foam. The covers are available in various types of fabric. Many of the fabrics used use recycled or circular raw materials.

Conference tables

Standing conference table

For a quick meeting or a slightly longer meeting, this high table is perfect. With the right height for a standing consultation and comfortable to use with stools and the footrest under the top.

Sit-stand table

Standing meetings make for shorter, more efficient meetings, but sometimes you can't escape a slightly longer consultation. How nice that this conference table can simply be lowered to continue the meeting sitting down!

Sit to stand desks

All the advantages of a high quality sit-stand desk with a luxurious appearance. The modular workways desks can be built up to accommodate your needs. From a free standing single desk to a complete work island with cabinets, everything is possible!

For every leg there is the choice between a toe, a cheek or a cabinet. Because the cabinet is constructed using Workways Cablets, you can largely determine the layout of your cabinet yourself. The cabling of the desk is also neatly incorporated in the cabinet.

This ergonomic office chair is available in the same fabrics as the Workways seating. Match your office chair with Workways.

Afterwards everything can be reassembled with an universal leg.

Simple reuse of sophisticated modules.

Flexible in use

Workways is designed so that the furniture is easy to assemble and disassemble. This not only allows you to easily adjust the design of your Workways to extend its lifespan, but at the end of the cycle all raw materials can be easily separated.

Cleverly designed

Workways can easily be mounted in different ways due to cleverly designed multifunctional elements. The base consists of multiple universal legs that can be mounted in different ways on pre-drilled smart hole pattern.
