PhoneBox

Design by AXIA Design

- Offers a sense of privacy in the office
- Outside noises are muffled as to enhance focus
- Simple and compact design makes it functional in use

The PhoneBox, created by AXIA Design, offers a sense of privacy in the office, either to make a phone call, prepare for an upcoming meeting or gather ones thoughts. While the soft fabrics and rounded edges make the booth inviting, the unique design ensures that outside noises are muffled as to enhance focus. Although simple and compact in design, the PhoneBox makes a significant impact in an open environment.

StandAlone

Design by AXIA Design

- A retreat from the open office floor
- Overhead roof and side panels provide sense of privacy
- Clever addition to any workspace

Reminiscent of the PhoneBox, the StandAlone is perfect for those who want to retreat from the commotion of the office environment but want a little more privacy. With its side panels of differing widths and overhead roof, the enclosure welcomes a quiet moment away from the noise of the communal workplace. To be used either as a standing workstation or a place to make a private call, the StandAlone by AXIA Design is a clever addition to any office, saving space and facilitating privacy.
